

Voluntary declaration for commitment to post-PhD research engagement

I, Archita Rai, a current PhD candidate in Life Sciences at Homi Bhabha National Institute, Mumbai, hereby declare my intent to actively contribute to the academic and research sectors following the completion of my PhD.

Upon receiving my doctoral degree, I willingly commit to working within public or privately funded academic and research organizations for a minimum duration of two years. This commitment reflects my dedication to advancing knowledge, fostering innovation, and honoring the support I have received.

During this period, I will engage in impactful research, mentor aspiring scholars, collaborate across disciplines, disseminate findings, and uphold ethical standards. This commitment embodies my aspiration to contribute meaningfully to the progress of both academia and society.
