

To whosoever it may concern

I Dr Rishi Sethi, confirm that this research work under reference has not been given any award.

I would like to acknowledge the fact here that no great research can be done alone. It's always a team work. I would like to acknowledge the contributions of immense support of all my senior and junior colleagues, from the Department of Cardiology (Lari Cardiology), King Georges Medical University, Lucknow (UP), who have been instrumental in conduct as well as validation of this and related studies. Specially I would like to endorse the hard work of Dr Satyavir Yadav and Dr Shweta who very sincerely played a major role in patient recruitment, data collection and its analysis.

The technical contributions from Microsoft Incorporation and HealthRADAR by Evolko Systems Inc. California, USA need a very special mention.

I would also like to acknowledge the unconditional faith of our patients on us who readily agreed to participate in the studies and followed all the protocols with utmost sincerity.
